Did You Know?

Your body needs about eight glasses of water per day to stay hydrated. However, this can vary depending on factors like climate, activity level, and overall health.

Annual Water Irrigation Schedule Returns

With the hottest months and the biggest demands on everyone's water supply just ahead, we are commencing our annual two days per week lawn and garden irrigation schedule in 18 towns.

This year's mandatory program runs through October 31 for Darien, East Granby, Easton, Fairfield, Granby, Greenwich, Groton, Mystic, New Canaan, Newtown, Ridgefield, Simsbury, Stamford, Stonington, Trumbull, Weston, Westport and Wilton.

Why focus on outdoor watering? Up to half the water used outside is wasted. Leaky or incorrectly programmed lawn irrigation systems account for much of that, along with overwatering.

This program has already saved billions of gallons of water for homes and businesses across Connecticut. A bonus: It has actually helped our customers make their lawns and gardens more resistant to the droughts.

Will droughts be back this summer? No one knows, but water is a finite resource. Avoiding waste is important no matter the weather. For more on the program, including how to apply for a variance, visit aquarionwater.com/watering.

Aquarion Earth Day Volunteers Lead Green Projects

This year, Aquarion again celebrated Earth Day by organizing and supporting environmental action events throughout April across our service area.

Customers, community organizations and Aquarion employees dove into a variety of tasks and initiatives. They helped spruce up local parks, day camps, outdoor recreation centers, a city's community vegetable garden, a favorite fishing area -- even an overgrown cemetery. They planted native flowers and other species; maintained trails; built and installed fencing; expanded a pollinator garden; and cleaned up a littered shoreline.

The range of events and people involved underscored how far and wide programs, aimed at protecting and enhancing our state's natural resources, can reach. All of our Aquarion volunteers look forward to our annual Earth Day project accomplishments as well as what our Aquarion team does year round as "Stewards of the Environment."
